

Miss Sue Flay

Welcome to the cake-filled world of domestic goddess Miss Sue Flay, baking teacher, etiquette enthusiast and afternoon tea aficionado.

Thank you very much for pondering the idea of having Miss Sue Flay to help you celebrate... she will most certainly entertain & educate you! Perfect for families, couples, birthdays, corporate events, hen parties, baby showers or “just because”...

With over eleven years experience in events and hospitality Miss Sue Flay is just the person to teach you the do's and don'ts of afternoon tea baking... and the eating.

Cambridge born & bred...

After years of visiting the country's afternoon tea spots, it occurred to Miss Flay that with her new love and knowledge of high tea, as well as her passion for homemade cake, she should really pick up her teapot and join their ranks herself. Starting off modestly small in her proceedings, she hosted civilised afternoon tea parties. With beautiful mismatching china and delicious home baked cakes, scones as well as other sweet & savoury delights, she enjoyed sitting down to afternoon tea with her guests & making new friends alongside a cuppa - She then went on to teach & share her knowledge ...

Afternoon Tea Baking Lessons

Learn to bake, make & fake like a domestic god/dess.

During your lesson, Miss Sue Flay would teach you to bake treats fit for your very own Afternoon Tea table, with tricks and tips throughout. It will be a very relaxed experience, with no judgement on your baking skills or experience, so please don't panic, she's there to help from the mixing to the baking, through to the serving - It's all great fun!

Perfect for couples, families, individuals, hen parties, baby showers, civilised get togethers, team building, birthdays & more. Learn to bake everything for your very own afternoon tea party, from cakes to curds, tarts to tiffin in your very own home with equipment brought to you to whip up your own sweet treats & savoury delights.

A tailor made recipe book is also provided to suit your tastes, all you need is a working oven and a kitchen sink. Any celebration or event in your own home, garden, even in your workplace or a venue of your choice from our list of ever growing Tea Party pre-arranged venues. We even have a Bell Tent with purpose made seating & table, should you wish to have a glamorous garden venue, simply drop us a line to discuss.

Afternoon Tea Etiquette Workshops

Afternoon Tea Hostess & Baking Tutor, Miss Sue Flay, will help guests to understand the importance of manners at one of our most beloved mealtimes & most English traditions in a Cambridge City location or venue of your choosing.

You can now book a private afternoon tea etiquette session with a luxurious afternoon tea in a very relaxed City Centre venue to include a selection of delicate finger sandwiches, scones, cakes & sweet treats and copious amounts of top quality tea as we converse.

Practice the art of conversation, enjoy some fabulous tea & cakes or use it as an excuse to spend some time with your friends, family or colleagues. Or why not book Miss Sue Flay to visit you in your own home or venue of your choice?

This is tailored for between 1 – 8 people as a guide, either as a 1-to-1 session, couples/ small groups or families for conversational &/or entertainment purposes – It's the perfect way to enjoy a civilised celebration or to learn a little history whilst visiting our lovely City!

Topics you will learn throughout your session include:

History of afternoon tea

Napkin etiquette

Scones - Jam then cream? Or cream then jam?

Milk then tea or tea then milk?

Hosting manners

Good guest etiquette

Table manners - why they matter

Dressing for afternoon tea

Polite table talk - and putting it into practice

Excusing yourself

Plus much more besides!

This is the ultimate “finishing school for afternoon tea” and your manners will increase ten fold... we hope!
